

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to the deposition of a layer above a transistor structure, causing crystalline stress within the transistor, and resulting in increased performance. The stress layer may be formed above a plurality of transistors formed on a substrate, or above a plurality of selected transistors.